ORIGEN (No. 54)

Treatise on the Passover and Dialogue with Heraclides translated and edited by Robert J. Daly, SJ

The Treatise on the Passover dates from around 245. Its central insight is that the passover is not a figure or type of the passion of Christ, but a figure of Christ himself, of Christ's passing over to the Father. The Dialogue with Heraclides probably comes from between the years 244 and 249. It seems to be the record of a synod-like meeting of bishops, in the presence of lay people, called to discuss matters of belief and worship. Both pieces seem to come from the last decade of Origen's activity, when he was at the height of his powers.

Wisdom on Marriage and Family

Pope Francis

Pope Francis keeps a special place in his heart for married couples. These two chapters, drawn from his much larger letter, The Joy of Love: On Love in the Family, are dedicated to couples. Because he expressly suggests that couples read chapters four and five from The Joy of Love, they are now available in this volume. In many ways, it is his conversation with couples: those thinking about marriage, those newly married, those living their marriage.
