PAULIST PRESS

Greetings from Paulist Press,

We hope you are looking forward to an exciting and productive New Year.

As you may know, since 1865, as a mission of the Paulist Fathers, Paulist Press shares the joy of the gospel at the intersection of faith and culture. We listen to and share the quest for meaning with all people of goodwill.

As a leading Catholic communicator, Paulist Press articulates the ongoing reception of the Second Vatican Council by:

- Listening to the joys and the hopes, the griefs, and the anxieties of the people of this time, especially those voices that are under-served or on the margins of the human community.
- Dialoguing with our Christian brothers and sisters, men and women of different faiths, and all spiritual seekers.
- Promoting the best religious scholarship and spirituality that relates serves the needs of our time.
- Presenting the riches of the Catholic tradition to Catholics and all people of goodwill.

Readers of this catalog will find much to fit their scholarly, textbook, and personal needs. In the scripture area we have partnered with the Catholic Biblical Association with a new series which currently boasts of seven titles. The newest entry in the series is Amos and Hosea by Katherine M. Hayes. In the area of ethics, we have just published James Keenan's latest book The History of Catholic Theological Ethics which has been well received. The latest volume in our acclaimed Classics of Western Spirituality series is The Nineteenth Century Salesian Pentecost and in theology we are looking forward to the publication of Michael Seewald's Catholic Perspectives on Reform.

Please browse our catalog and we welcome your feedback.

We wish you a successful and satisfying academic year.

EDITORIAL BOARD

J.E. Aguilar Chiu • J. Atkinson • R. Bautch • A. Harkins • P. Spitaler

Combining careful exegesis with a theological understanding of the text, the members of the Catholic Biblical Association of America have written these volumes in a style that is accessible to an educated, nonspecialized audience, without compromising academic integrity.

The Theology and Spirituality of the Psalms of Ascents

Bradley C. Gregory

This book explores the rich imagery of The Psalms of Ascents (Psalms 120–134) to show how they nourish the search for God's presence in a world that is marked by crises and hostility, not only in the world but tragically also within the people of God. This collection of psalms reflects postexilic Israel's confidence that in seeking God in Jerusalem the worshipper finds a blessing and peace that radiates out from Zion to infuse the most quotidian aspects of everyday life. The Psalms of Ascents are a summons to a spirituality for priest and commoner, the powerful and the marginalized, those near and those far, and anyone else suspended between fear and hope on the journey towards God.

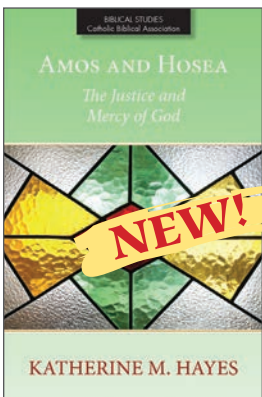

Bradley Gregory is associate professor of Old Testament at The Catholic University of America. He earned a PhD in Hebrew Bible and early Judaism from the University of Notre Dame.

Amos and Hosea

Katherine M. Hayes

This volume in the CBA Biblical Studies series explores the interface of divine justice and mercy within the books of Amos and Hosea. Hayes considers the following questions in the light of these two books: When the future of an entire nation is threatened, what role does mercy play in the enactment of justice? To what extent is divine mercy contingent on the enactment of justice? How do these prophetic books suggest that justice and mercy intertwine in the divine response to seriously flawed human communities?

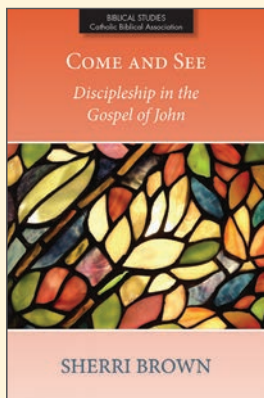

Katherine M. Hayes is professor emerita of biblical theology (Old Testament), St. Joseph Seminary (Yonkers, New York) and was formerly professor of sacred scripture at the Seminary of the Immaculate Conception (Huntington, New York). She is the author of 'The Earth Mourns': Prophetic Metaphor and Oral Aesthetic and Proverbs as well as of articles in Catholic Biblical Quarterly, Word and World, The Paulist Biblical Commentary, and The Jerome Biblical Commentary, among other publications.

Come and See

Discipleship in the Gospel of John

Sherri Brown

Come and See explores the invitations and imperatives embedded across the Gospel of John as the Fourth Evangelist draws audiences into his story of the good news. Through both narration and the direct calls of Jesus to those he encounters, characters in the Gospel and audiences of the Gospel are beckoned to deeper relationship with God through Jesus and challenged to open themselves to what God is doing in their lives right now.

Christ in the Book of Revelation

Ian Boxall

For many Christians, the Apocalypse of John (Book of Revelation) remains a closed book. Yet it provides one of the richest resources for christological reflection in the whole New Testament, and for centuries functioned as the Church's Easter book par excellence, presenting in vivid imagery the victory of the Paschal Lamb. Using narrative, and historical-critical and reception-historical tools, this volume introduces readers to the multiple dimensions of Christ as portrayed in the Apocalypse, within the unfolding narrative of John's visions, and exploring the Jewish and Greco-Roman background to the book's christological titles and images.

Scripture and Tradition in the Letters of Paul

Ronald D. Witherup

Explores examples from several letters of Paul's practice of quoting/using Scripture. Some of the topics explored are the question of written or oral sources; memorization; allusions vs. quotations; Paul's understanding of "scripture"; his use of scripture in rhetorical argumentation (Jewish/Greco-Roman); eisegesis vs. exegesis; and what Paul's use of Scripture might say to us today.

The Landscape of the Gospels

A Deeper Meaning

Donald Senior

This study is intended to help the reader savor more of the meaning of the Gospel narratives and of the Acts of the Apostles by attention to their “landscape,” that is, their geographical layout and the biblical history intimately related to this geography. In many instances, the evangelists and the traditions they draw on intend to evoke a deeper, symbolic meaning woven into the places in which the gospel drama unfolds. This unique study will lead the reader to a deeper appreciation of the full meaning of the New Testament narratives and their message.

Letters to the Johannine Circle

1-3 John

Francis J. Moloney, SDB

For decades the figure of Raymond E. Brown has dominated Johannine studies because of his influential commentaries on the Gospel of John (1966-1970) and the three Johannine Letters (1982). Nowadays many question his striking and influential hypotheses such as, What was the relationship between the Gospel and the Letters? When did they appear? In what order did they appear? This book takes the nonspecialized interested reader into this debate. The author reconsiders many of Brown's suggestions, modifying them in the light of contemporary studies. Written to appeal to a general audience, he states his own position, supporting his hypothesis with a careful but simply written commentary on the texts of 1, 2, and 3 John. He concludes that the Johannine Letters address an audience already mentioned in John 20:29: “Those who have not seen yet believe.”

The New Testament with Lectio Divina

Paulist Press

The New Testament with "Lectio Divina" invites readers to reflect on the individual stories and chapters of the New Testament, while being led to prayer through meditation on those biblical passages.

Lectio divina, the reflective reading of scripture, has long been a popular devotional practice in the Church from the earliest centuries. It consists of four steps:

READ: A slow and thoughtful reading of a passage from the Bible

REFLECT: A time of reflection and thinking about the meaning of that text to me as a reader

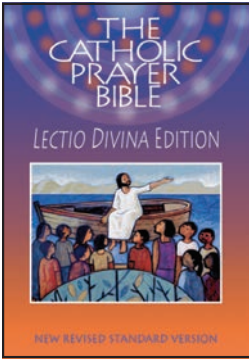

PRAY: A period of prayer to God to bring the message or wisdom of the text to fruit in myself

ACT: A decision on what I should do as a result; that is, an action plan to change or improve my life

Text in two colors. Ideal for personal and group use.

Reforming the Household of God

Paul's Models of Belonging

Allison L. Gray

Catholics and Protestants who try to read biblical scholarship are sometimes frustrated at the difficulty of seeing what it has to do with their lived experience. This book offers readers five points of focus for reading the Pauline letters in their original contexts. Five metaphors—child, slave, body, athlete, and soldier—drawn from the realms of kinship, athletics, medicine, and military science in Paul's own time structure the book into five parts.

Allison Gray is associate professor of theology at St. Mary's University, San Antonio, TX.

LGBTQ Catholic Ministry

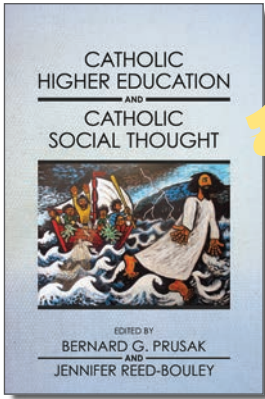

Past and Present

Jason Steidl Jack
foreword by James Martin, SJ

The author has spoken with countless Catholics who are passionate about LGBTQ ministry but feel stymied by a lack of resources. Fr. Martin's book, Building a Bridge, is a helpful conversation starter, but what does community and pastoral care look like in the real world? How do ministers navigate the complexities of church teaching and institutions?

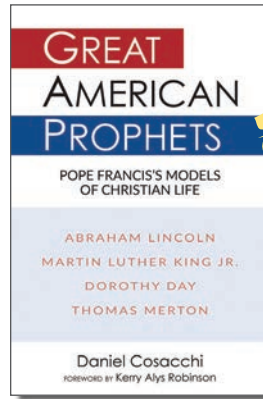

Sometimes, the history of these relationships is hard to recount. The Church's mistreatment of LGBTQ Catholics is heartbreaking. Nevertheless, this painful history opens up to hope for the future. LGBTQ Catholics and their allies are tenacious. Decades of ministry provide a vision for what is possible in communities committed to justice and mercy. This book will amplify their stories to inspire LGBTQ people and allies today.

Jason Steidl is assistant teaching professor of religious studies at St. Joseph's College in Brooklyn, New York. He completed his PhD in systematic theology at Fordham University.

Catholic Higher Education and Catholic Social Thought

Edited by Bernard G. Prusak and Jennifer Reed-Bouley; Foreword by Cardinal Michael Czerny, SJ

Responding to the signs of the time, this book brings the lens of Catholic social thought (CST) to the enterprise of Catholic higher education in the United States. Scandals in the Church and the growth of religious non-affiliation in the culture have made being Catholic greatly challenging for Catholic colleges and universities, at the same time that the economics of higher education have mounted a challenge to the very viability of many institutions. This book throws light on what Catholic colleges and universities might and must do in order both to preserve their mission and renew it for the future.

CST is concerned with the right ordering of social institutions, or in other words the systems in which individuals live and work. CST is accordingly relevant not only to the internal dynamics and structures of Catholic colleges and universities, but to the system of U.S. higher education in which individual colleges and universities operate. This edited volume, consisting of chapters by authors with disciplinary expertise, deploys the resources of CST to shed light on both internal and external challenges to, opportunities for, and obligations on institutions of Catholic higher education in the U.S. context.

Bernard Prusak is professor of philosophy and director of the McGowan Center for Ethics and Social Responsibility at King's College in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.

Jennifer Reed-Bouley is professor and program director of theology at College of Saint Mary in Omaha, Nebraska.

Great American Prophets

Pope Francis's Models of Christian Life

Daniel Cosacchi

Using the examples of the "Great Americans" cited by Pope Francis during his visit to the United States, Cosacchi discusses how prophecy can be manifested in our own time.

When Pope Francis visited the United States in 2015 and addressed a joint session of Congress, he cited several examples of "Great Americans": Abraham Lincoln, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr, Thomas Merton, and Dorothy Day. Daniel Cosacchi draws the line between the prophetic stance of these four (as well as others) and the role of the prophet from the Old Testament to the present day.

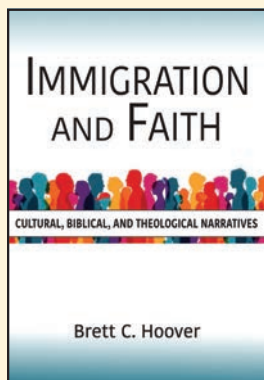

"In his superb scholarly response to the call of Pope Francis to believers to live lives of prophetic witness and compassion, Dan Cosacchi has produced a book of elegant argument, uncommon clarity, and true prophetic insight. This is a must-read for anyone concerned about the future of the American church or the American republic. Go buy this book!"

—Mark Massa, SJ, director,
Boisi Center for Religion and American Public
Life, Boston College

Daniel Cosacchi is vice president for mission and ministry at the University of Scranton, Pennsylvania. He received his PhD in Christian ethics from Loyola University of Chicago and has taught at a number of Catholic colleges and universities.

Doing Faithjustice

An Introduction to Catholic Social Thought and Action

Fred Kammer, SJ

The author defines faithjustice as “a passionate virtue which disposes citizens to become involved in the greater and lesser societies around themselves in order to create communities where human dignity is protected and enhanced, the gifts of creation are shared for the common good, and the poor are treated with respect and a special love.” He says it is in the end “a habit of the believing heart.”

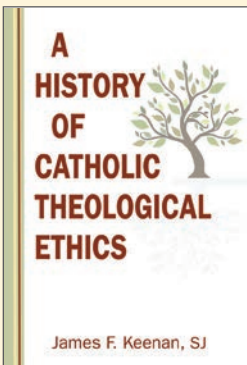

Against the backdrop of the author’s explicit experiences as a southerner, lawyer, priest, and Jesuit, this book expounds on the meaning of faithjustice, starting with the biblical grounding. It then traverses the full breadth of historical developments in the Catholic Christian community for more than 200 years and elucidates the meaning of faithjustice in our contemporary context. Underlining all this is the author’s conviction that only people who are living out faithjustice commitments can promote the truth about the necessity of solidarity and counter the pernicious mistrust that creates division in society.

This updated edition includes new materials on creation and the jubilee tradition and on the parables of Jesus; the writings of Popes Benedict XVI and Francis and other social teaching documents from the past twenty years; and updated economic, racial, and social data and analysis in light of the justice tradition.

Fred Kammer, SJ, JD, served as immediate past executive director of the Jesuit Social Research Institute (2009–2021) in his native New Orleans. He also served as president of Catholic Charities USA (1992 to 2001) and policy advisor for health and welfare issues at the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops in the nineties.

Faith and Religion in a Secular Society

Cardinal Jozef De Kesel
Foreword by Dr. John Alonzo Dick

Cardinal Jozef De Kesel makes the same bet as Pope Francis that, in the face of the phenomena of secularization, religious indifference, and institutional weakening is not by preaching about or idealizing a bygone past that Christianity can expect to regain hearing and color in Europe, because it risks isolating and separating even more than it is from a culture that no longer waits. The salvation of the Church and the safeguarding of her universal mission depend rather on its ability to facilitate a culture of encounter with all those who want to humanize the modern, pluralist, and secular society, while also asserting its freedom of expression. It is this pastoral option that Joseph De Kesel is already experimenting with in a Belgian society deeply secularized after having been, like France, a land of Christianity.

Josef De Kesel is the Archbishop of Mechelen Brussels and Primate of Belgium since 2015. He was elevated to cardinal by Pope Francis in 2016. He is a member of the Roman Dicastery for Laity, Family, and Life.

Play, Sport, and Spirit

Patrick Kelly, SJ

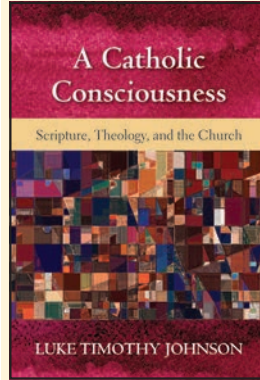

Play, Sport, and Spirit retrieves a much needed “play ethic” from Catholic cultural and theological sources that dialogue with evolutionary theory and contemporary philosophy and psychology to illuminate the human and spiritual meaning of sport and work.

After a discussion of the marginalization of the play element in contemporary sport in the U.S., the author uses the work of cultural historian Johan Huizinga to understand the meaning of play and how it is related to culture, ritual, festival, and spirituality. Basic to this “play ethic” is an acceptance of play as a part of human life. For Aquinas, play is enjoyable and done for its own sake. However, the enjoyment we experience in play is directed to the “good of the player” in that it brings pleasure and relaxation.

Using the work of scholars Gordon Burghardt (evolutionary psychology), Randolph Feezell (philosophy), and Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi (psychology) the book demonstrates that when sport is enjoyable and engaged in for its own sake (i.e., as play), it leads to human flourishing and openness to transcendence. The book provides a contemporary account of how play can be autotelic and yet benefit the human person, as Aquinas had claimed, and thus illuminates our understanding of the human and spiritual meaning of work and vocation.

Patrick Kelly, SJ, PhD is associate professor of religious studies at the University of Detroit Mercy and a visiting professor at the Gregorian University.

I Came Here Seeking a Person

A Vital Story of Grace; One Gay Man's Spiritual Journey

William D. Glenn

This book is a contemporary account of a spiritual journey by a sober, gay, ex-Jesuit clinician and community leader writing at the complicated intersection of faith, psychology, sexuality, culture, and exponential social change. The book's themes are both "of the moment" and universal; they are difficult, and yet hopeful.

"This gorgeously written book... is a beckoning, a heart-song, an invitation to discover the face of the divine in each other. This is a magnificent book!"

—Mirabai Starr, author of Caravan of No Despair and Wild Mercy

"I Came Here Seeking a Person is a deep and fascinating book worthy of the great Thomas Merton, whom Bill considers his mentor."

—Ron Hansen, noted author Mariette in Ecstasy, professor at Santa Clara University

"Beautifully written, captivatingly expressive, this book is genuine literature.... Bill Glenn reveals an aspect of gay experience that few tend to consider—the spiritual."

—Daniel Helminiak, author of The Human Core of Spirituality and Sex and the Sacred: Gay Identity and Spiritual Growth

William D. Glenn is a psychotherapist and spiritual director. Currently the chair of the Board of Trustees of the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, with husband Scott Hafner, he is the co-founder of its Center for LGBTQ and Gender Studies in Religion. He has served as executive director of Continuum and president of the San Francisco AIDS Foundation.

Pope Benedict XVI

The Significance of His Theological Vision; Revised and Updated

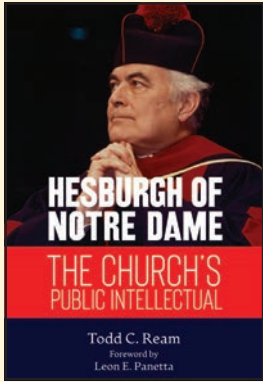

Thomas P. Rausch, SJ

In this revised and updated edition of Pope Benedict XVI, Thomas Rausch, SJ, examines and critically assesses the pope's extensive contribution to theology. So much has happened since the first edition was published, including the role of the laity, the liturgy, the sexual-abuse scandals, and the increasing role of Vatican II on the Church, that, with some distance, we can now assess the important role of this pope's enormous and significant theological vision.

Rev. Thomas P. Rausch, SJ, with a PhD in religion from Duke University, is the Emeritus T. Marie Chilton Professor of Catholic Theology at Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles.

The Vatican Code

American Diplomacy in the Time of Francis

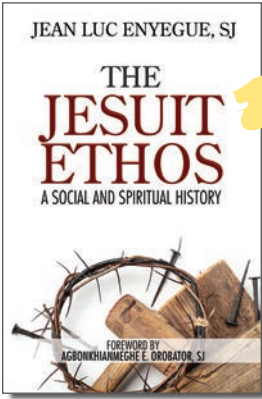

Ambassador Kenneth Hackett
foreword by Ambassador
George F. Poulides

There are many who are intrigued by the institution of the Holy See under the pontificate of Pope Francis. The Vatican Code opens a curtain to the Holy See from a unique angle. It browses some of the highlights of the papacy from 2013 to 2017 as well as some of its murkier elements. It profiles some of the personalities and the daily and long-term inner workings of the United States Embassy with the Vatican.

The Vatican Code provides key insights into the sensitive negotiations of an American ambassador to the Holy See and will help readers understand the intricacies of this unique role.

Ambassador Kenneth Hackett was born and raised in Boston, educated by the Jesuits at Boston College High School and Boston College. He did graduate study at New York University and took a sabbatical at the University of South Carolina. Following three and a half years with the Peace Corps in Ghana, he spent forty years with Catholic Relief Services (CRS), nineteen of which he was the chief executive officer and president. He was appointed as United States ambassador to the Holy See in August 2013.

Ambassador Hackett holds nineteen honorary degrees from various Catholic universities and was awarded the Laetare Medal from the University of Notre Dame. He has received two papal awards: the Order of Pius IX and the Equestrian Order of St. Gregory (Knight Commander).

The Jesuit Ethos

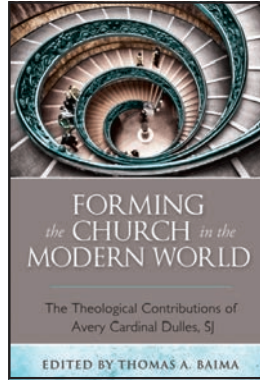

A Social and Spiritual History

Jean Luc Enyegue, SJ

The Jesuit Ethos aims at revisiting important moments in Jesuit history from the margins, and in light of the current global challenges. It argues that by examining Jesuit history from the margins, one better appreciates this history as a spiritual journey, a constant quest for the unity of hearts and minds among the members. Their cultural and political origins, the diversity of their ministries, their apostolic dispersion amid the “First Globalization,” and constant assaults from declared enemies kept the Jesuits on the verge of implosion and immolation and made the unity among their members a matter of survival. By analyzing how the Jesuits exploited their diversity of cultures and politics to build a global ethos, and how this global organization was sustained for the last 500 years, relevant lessons can be learned to address the ongoing challenges of our global community. While speaking to a broader, global-oriented audience, such a history might be the first of such by an African (thus its originality), in a context of shifting demographics in the Church and Society of Jesus, and questions about the identity of its institution and mission.

Jean Luc Enyegue, SJ, holds an STL in theology from Boston College, and PhD in church history and hermeneutics from Boston University. He is currently the director of the Jesuit Historical Institute in Africa (JHIA), and lecturer in church history at Hekima University College, Nairobi (Kenya).

Pope Francis and the Parish

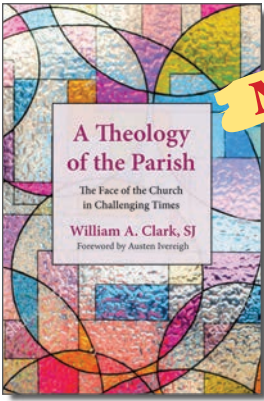

The Joy of the Gospel Comes Alive

Kevin E. McKenna

foreword by John Stowe, OFM Conv,
Bishop of Lexington

Pope Francis and the Parish begins by reviewing the influences that shaped Jorge Bergoglio's ecclesial vision that were later implemented in The Joy of the Gospel. Based on the experience of a cathedral parish in Rochester, New York, it details the enfolding of missionary discipleship in the parish as it transitions from blue-collar bastion to a home of stark poverty, of new peripheries with dramatic new needs, including a burgeoning refugee population. Reference is made to the "Field Hospital" motif, The Joy of the Gospel's "Four Essential Principles," "The Three Step Program," and Pope Francis's guidelines for parish leadership. The work concludes with Pope Francis's call to hope and the transformation of the parish into a "People with a Spirited Impulse."

Kevin E. McKenna is the Rector of Sacred Heart Cathedral in Rochester, New York, former Chancellor of the Diocese of Rochester, former president of the Canon Law Society of America, and the author of many articles and several books.

A Theology of the Parish

The Face of the Church in Challenging Times

William A. Clark, SJ
foreword by Austen Ivereigh

“William Clark has given us here what we have long needed—a comprehensive but coherent theological look at Catholic parishes that is clear but does not oversimplify. Clark speaks of a ‘parish of the people’ (shaped by Argentinian theologies that have influenced Pope Francis), balancing an internal focus on being a pilgrim people with an external focus on the parish as neighbor, especially to those at the margins. The wide-ranging theological (and missiological) reflection remains historically rooted but deeply contemporary, accessible to pastoral as well as academic audiences. Clark never shies from contemporary controversies in parish life, and he concludes with thoughts about what COVID-19 has done to parish life. Clark’s local-global consciousness as a Jesuit informs this study, ever attentive to the cultural and socioeconomic diversity of parish life (unlike many homogenizing parish theologies), with examples from the U.S. but from everywhere from Argentina and Jamaica to Honduras and Germany.”

—Brett Hoover, associate professor of practical and pastoral theology, Loyola Marymount University

William A. Clark, SJ, is an associate professor in the Department of Religious Studies at the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester, Massachusetts, where he has been teaching since September 2001. He specializes in systematic theology, particularly ecclesiology, and has a special interest in parish life and issues affecting local church communities.

Young Latino Catholics

Stories of Faith

Hosffman Ospino and Timothy Matovina

Jesus lives in our personal stories. This is the clear message from the young adult Hispanic Catholic authors in this exciting volume. They candidly share their joys and hopes, griefs and anxieties as they navigate life in the U.S. as Hispanics and as Christian disciples. Numerous young Latinas and Latinos are and want to remain Catholic. Many, however, feel abandoned by the institution and the faith communities that at one point introduced them—and their families—to the living Christ and his Gospel message. If you share in some way that sentiment, the stories in this volume are a reminder that you are not alone. Welcome to a communion of young women and men who find grace in sharing and listening to their particular stories of faith. Pastoral leaders reading this book are invited to listen attentively to young adult Latina and Latino Catholics as they forge fresh ways of being Christian in the United States.

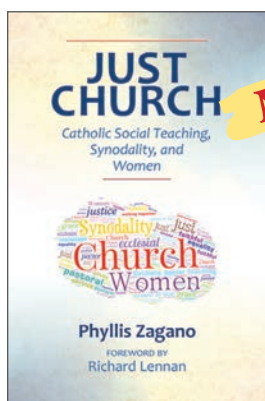

Hosffman Ospino is a professor of theology at Boston College School of Theology and Ministry, where he chairs the Department of Religious Education and Pastoral Ministry.

Timothy Matovina is a professor and chairperson of the Theology Department at the University of Notre Dame.

A Spanish translation of the author's popular Mexican American Catholic. Mexicans have long been a presence in the United States, a presence that is growing and spreading into new places. This volume focuses on Mexican-Catholics in particular and ALL Hispanic-American Catholics in general.

Writing for those who minister to Mexican-Americans, Eduardo Fernández, a Mexican-American and Jesuit priest, provides valuable information and advice. He presents the history of Christianity in Mexico via Spain, the conditions of Mexican Catholics in America, the challenges facing Mexican-American Catholics, and suggestions on how to meet them. Drawing on his own experience, he offers pastoral strategies for assisting Mexican-American Catholics in becoming more active members of the Church. And he includes an extensive bibliography for those who want to learn more.

Fr. Eduardo C. Fernández, SJ, is professor of pastoral theology and ministry at the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, CA. He holds STD and STL degrees from the Gregorian Pontifical University, Rome.

Just Church

*Catholic Social Teaching, Synodality,
and Women*

Phyllis Zagano

Just Church engages the reader in the synodal pathway to a "Just Church" that can and should reflect its social teaching. An important measure of justice is an ecclesiology open to participation by others beyond celibate clerics, especially in consideration of competing Catholic ecclesial bodies and methods of membership.

Dr. Phyllis Zagano is an internationally acclaimed Catholic scholar who has lectured in the United States, Canada, Europe, and Australia. Her many awards include the 2014 Isaac Hecker Award for Social Justice from the Paulist Center Community in Boston. Her work on women in the diaconate led to her appointment to the Pontifical Commission for the Study of the Diaconate of Women in 2016. She has taught at Fordham, Boston, and Yale universities, and currently holds a research appointment at Hofstra University, Hempstead, New York. Her most recent book is Women: Icons of Christ (Paulist, 2020), winner of a Catholic Media Association Book Award.

Veil of Silence

Abuse, Confrontation, and Frustration in the Religious Life of Women

Salvatore Cernuzio

By virtue of the transparency so often invoked by Pope Francis in the Church, the book sheds light on a serious problem within the consecrated life of women: the abuses (of power, of conscience) within orders, monasteries, and institutes. The author collects the testimonies of women religious from all over the world and of different ages: after years of silence, out of fear or because of strong psychological pressure, they have decided to make their voices heard. In this way, they can help other women who still do not have the courage to react.

Salvatore Cernuzio has worked as a Vatican expert for the Catholic news agency Zenit and the Vatican Insider portal of the newspaper "La Stampa." Since 2021 he has been a member of the editorial staff of Vatican News - Vatican Radio.

Penal Law in ActionMsgr. Brendan Daly

This book on penal law explains the main topics of penal law, with cases and examples of its implementation, using the changed text of Book 6 of the Code of Canon Law that will come into effect on December 8, 2021.

Pope Francis has revised Book 6 of the Code of Canon Law, "Penal Sanctions in the Church," canons 1311-1399. Of these 89 canons, 63 have been changed and others have been renumbered.

Changes include a new canon 1376 concerning the crimes of stealing and misappropriation of church property; canon 1398 §2 making the sexual abuse of minors by religious brothers and sisters a crime; c. 1398 §1 no. 2 making grooming a crime. Other changes in canon law since 1983 have been incorporated into the new book 6. These include raising the age for sexual abuse from under age 14 to under age 18; a 1988 law imposing penalties for recording confessions; penalties for the attempted ordination of a woman; penalties for bishops failing to report or take sufficient measures against perpetrators of sexual abuse; and for clerics using pornography of those under age 18.

Monsignor Brendan Daly holds a PhD in Canon Law (Ottawa University, 1986); JCD (Saint Paul University, 1988). He has served in various parochial positions and has been a vocation director; rector of the seminary for New Zealand; principal of the national theological college; judge on the Appeal Tribunal for Australia and New Zealand; and is currently lecturer in canon law at the Catholic Theological College in Auckland and Judicial Vicar for the Tribunal of the Catholic Church for New Zealand.

Experiencing God's Compassion

Virginia A. Blass

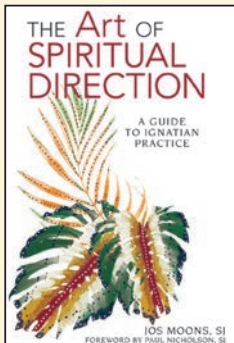

Over the past thirty years, while offering retreats, spiritual direction, and preached missions, the author was privileged to accompany many on their spiritual journey. She highlights here their common desires for peace, purpose, and meaning in life, ways to deal with suffering and death, among other life experiences. The author recounts how each experienced a “breakthrough” moment in their relationship with God.

Reading these stories, one can easily recognize that transforming moment when each person experienced God's compassion and as a result, everything changed in his or her life. These stories capture various dynamic aspects of our spiritual journey with God and others. Ultimately, at the heart of our spiritual journey is God's never-ending desire to draw us into a loving relationship. We too can rediscover that God has been searching for us, while we have been searching for God. Through the reading of these stories, scripture, and insights, we can reclaim our own desires and continue to deepen in loving union with our compassionate God, and be “carriers” of compassion for others.

Virginia Blass maintains a ministry of spiritual direction, parish missions, retreats, and conferences. She is a lay member of the Passionist Preaching Mission of the St. Paul of the Cross Province and a longtime collaborator in ministry with the Northeast Province of Jesuits. She resides in New Hampshire.

Courageous Humility

Reflections on the Church, Diakonia, and Deacons

William T. Ditewig
foreword by Bishop Gerald F. Kicanas

Courageous humility is a humility that takes risks, investing the talents and strengths God has given us for the good of others. The reflections revolve around that call: “Be strong and courageous!” Chapter One grounds the project in the Trinity, the core dogma of the Church. From the earliest days of the Church, humility has been seen as the heart of Christian communal life, so Chapter Two examines the classic insights on humility from St. Benedict and his groundbreaking Rule. Humility should be the foundation of all the various external structures we create to support our mission of evangelization.

Chapter Three offers some suggestions on ecclesial structural reform. Building on these foundational chapters, the succeeding chapters focus on the diaconate within this context of ecclesial humility. Chapter Four discusses the sacramentality of the diaconate. Chapter Five suggests revisions to the Code of Canon Law vis-à-vis the diaconate, and Chapter Six recommends developments in the liturgy of diaconal ordination. Chapter Seven responds to some of the recurring issues of the diaconate, and Chapter Eight discusses how the Church may tap the full potential of the renewed diaconate.

William T. Ditewig is a deacon of the Archdiocese of Washington, DC. Ordained a deacon in 1990, Deacon Ditewig has since served in parish, diocesan, national, and international ministry, also researching and writing extensively on the diaconate.

Women, Earth, and Creator Spirit

Revised Edition

Elizabeth A. Johnson

While this derives from a Madeleva lecture of the same title that was delivered in 1993, the points made and updated by Elizabeth Johnson in this revised edition of Women, Earth, and Creator Spirit are even more pressing today. Since the 1990s, the environment has only been degraded more, and one could argue that the status of women has been eroded by the rise of religious fundamentalism in almost every culture. Johnson draws out the links between attitudes toward women and the way we treat the natural world around us. If nature is somehow perceived as “feminine,” then it is no surprise that it is heedlessly abused and used, especially when both women and the earth exist under the Elizabeth A. Johnson, CSJ, holds a doctorate from The Catholic University of America and is distinguished professor of theology emerita at Fordham University in New York City.

The Spiritual Exercises Reclaimed

2ND EDITION

Uncovering Liberating Possibilities for Women

Elizabeth Liebert and Annemarie Paulin-Campbell

This companion to the Spiritual Exercises, in an anniversary edition, does justice to women’s experience across contexts and social locations. While acknowledging obstacles that the Exercises hold for women in various contexts, the authors provide fresh interpretations of every aspect of this spiritual classic. They bring together feminist consciousness, a broad knowledge of psychology and theology, and the compassionate insight of experienced spiritual guides.

The situation of women making and giving the Spiritual Exercises has changed radically in the past two decades since the publication of the previous edition, which highlights the variety women’s experience of the Spiritual Exercises from different cultural contexts. It also draws from new and younger women’s voices, thus extending the reach of the original text to another generation over wider geographic and cultural spread. The revised book opens up new ways in which the Exercises may offer liberating possibilities for women world-wide.

Elizabeth Liebert, SNJM, PhD, is professor emerita of spiritual life at San Francisco Theological Seminary, Berkeley, CA.

Annemarie Paulin-Campbell, PhD, is head of the School of Spirituality of the Jesuit Institute of South Africa in Johannesburg.

Women and the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius of Loyola

Anne Arabome, SSS

“Women have played an integral and pivotal role in the life and spirituality of St. Ignatius of Loyola.’ With this simple but bold sentence, Sister Anne Arabome, a scholar and experienced practitioner of Ignatian spirituality, opens the riches of the Spiritual Exercises to women—and to men who love and care about women. One of the most remarkable parts of this beautiful book is the imaginative recreation of the lives of women who were important to St. Ignatius: women who nurtured him, taught him, befriended him, supported him, shared their spiritual lives with him, and prayed for him. A worthy successor to an earlier work, The Spiritual Exercises Reclaimed, Sister Arabome’s book is now a must-read for anyone—man or woman—interested in Ignatian spirituality.”

—James Martin, SJ, author of
The Jesuit Guide to (Almost) Everything

Anne Arabome, SSS, is a member of the Sisters of Social Service in Los Angeles, California. She holds a PhD in systematic theology from the University of Roehampton in London (UK), and a DMin in spirituality from Catholic Theological Union in Chicago. Anne is the cofounder of the Bakhita Initiative for African Women and is presently the associate director of the Faber Center for Ignatian Spirituality at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

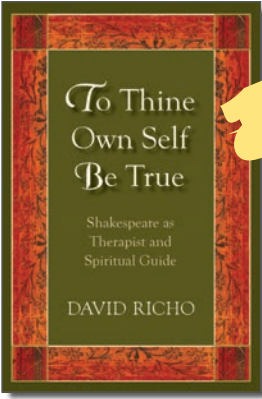

Saint Joseph

Trusting God

Margarita Saldaña Mostajo

This small volume holds a great treasure by shining forth the faith of Joseph in its multi-faceted, wondrous effects. While focusing on Joseph as an ordinary man, a tradesman, father, and husband, Margarita Saldaña Mostajo points to his interaction with the divine life, dreaming and acting from his extraordinary inner conviction of God’s reality. This miraculous element in Joseph’s living is what the book unfolds as placing him in the lineage of faith from his patriarch namesake and with all who seek God’s will intuitively as with the eyes of the heart. Here the reader is invited to participate in a life “without a table of contents,” guided by a trusting reliance on how God is accomplishing the saving purposes of faith and justice for weak and poor persons. With the inner eyes closed to needing reason as ultimate guide, they open to the security of God’s presence in history, personal and global. Joseph is an example and teacher in Saldaña Mostajo’s presentation of his notably hidden life.

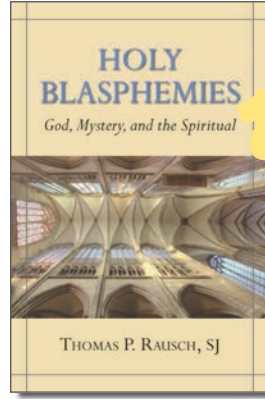

Margarita Saldaña Mostajo holds a degree in journalism and in dogmatic theology. She belongs to the Fraternity of the Little Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Charles de Foucauld, and is part of a group researching his life. She has lived in various countries working on development and education projects. More recently her interests focus on elderly and palliative care.

To Thine Own Self Be True

Shakespeare as Therapist and Spiritual Guide

David Richo

Richo has chosen twenty-three components of humanness, each a topic of a chapter. He begins each chapter with a short section about the topic as it is described in psychology or spirituality. Then he presents quotations from Shakespeare on that theme. Every passage walks us into who we are and can be, both psychologically and spiritually. The quotations are wonderfully imaginative kick-offs into it. After each Shakespeare quotation is a short re-phrase in modern English. After each set of quotations, he presents a paragraph or two, based on the points made in them, meant to show how they can be springboards into becoming more sensitive to the topic.

The book is divided into three parts. In Part One, the author explores who we are. In Part Two, he looks at what happens to us during a lifetime. In Part Three, he presents specific suggestions found in Shakespeare about how to put these themes into practice.

David Richo, PhD, is psychotherapist, teacher, and workshop leader. He shares his time between Santa Barbara and San Francisco, California. Dave combines psychological and spiritual perspectives in his work. His website is davericho.com

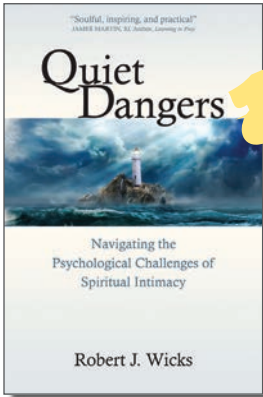

Holy Blasphemies

God, Mystery, and the Spiritual

Thomas P. Rausch, SJ

Holy Blasphemies asks such questions as: Why is God so difficult to find? Why is there not a more effective way to reveal himself? Does God punish? Why do we need the Church? In answering these questions, the book explores the mysteries of creation, life, suffering, prayer, with brief chapters on the reign of God, the Passion, Easter, change, building bridges, and so on, drawing on popular culture, science, spirituality, and the Catholic tradition. Throughout the book there is an emphasis on the encyclicals and apostolic exhortations of Pope Francis.

Rev. Thomas P. Rausch, SJ, has a PhD in religion from Duke University (1976) and is the Emeritus T. Marie Chilton Professor of Catholic Theology at Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles. A specialist in the areas of Christology, ecclesiology, and ecumenism, he has published 24 books and over 300 articles and reviews. He has lectured internationally, and his works have been translated into nine different languages.

Quiet Dangers

Navigating the Psychological Challenges of Spiritual Intimacy

Robert J. Wicks

Robert Wick's latest book presents a discussion of the natural encounters all of us can expect on the journey toward a deeper relationship with the truth about ourselves, others, and God. This includes the search for imago Dei, what to expect in traveling our own "road to Emmaus," how to recognize our own hidden resistances to spiritual growth and change—especially "compartmentalization," and ways to personally explore our own answer to Jesus's question in John's Gospel: "What are you looking for?"

Dr. Wicks received his doctorate in psychology (PsyD) from Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, is professor emeritus at Loyola University Maryland, and has taught in universities and professional schools of psychology, medicine, nursing, theology, education, counseling, and social work. He has published more than fifty books for professionals and the general public.

The Human Quest for Meaning

Brian Schmisek

"Brian Schmisek weaves together contemporary experience and writings with those of Greco-Roman classical antiquity. What a delight to discover the long arc of the quest for meaning in our beleaguered world. I found it comforting, challenging, and insightful. An interesting read in turbulent times."

—Sr. Simone Campbell, SSS, advocate, former leader of Nuns on the Bus, award-winning author of Hunger for Hope

"In Signs, Superstitions, and God's Plan, Brian Schmisek weaves together scripture, the classics, and modern thought in exploring the ways we have sought to give meaning to our lives, from entrails to religious faith to the stars in the sky. This scholarly but accessible book inspires the reader to consider how events in life unfold, and the meaning of her own life."

—Catherine Wolff, author,
Beyond: How Humankind Thinks About Heaven

"An indispensable resource for all of us who accompany others in developing the habitus of discernment and decision making, particularly theologians, transformational leaders, pastoral ministers, and educators who engage in reflective practice."

—Faustino M. Cruz;
dean and professor of practical theology,
Fordham University Graduate School of Religion

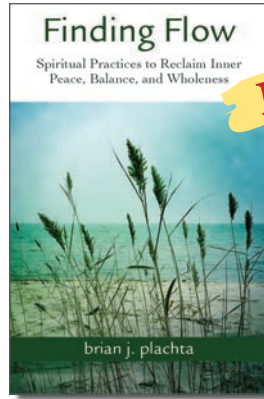

Brian Schmisek is an award-winning author. He has had a distinguished career in Catholic higher education, most recently as provost and dean of faculties at St. Mary's University of Minnesota. He was also dean at Loyola University Chicago and the University of Dallas.

Finding Flow

Spiritual Practices to Reclaim Inner Peace, Balance, and Wholeness

brian j. plachta

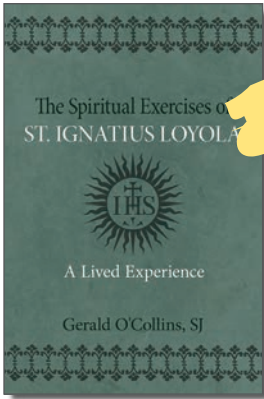

Finding Flow provides readers with a simple process to reclaim a close, playful relationship with God. This book adds a spiritual element to the current discussions by psychologists, athletes, and creatives about "flow," which author brian plachta defines as being one with the Divine Spirit who opens our hearts, allowing us to experience inner peace, balance, and wholeness.

Finding Flow offers doable spiritual practices organized around: Solitude, Spiritual reading, Community and Contemplative Action

These practices derive from the tradition of Saint Benedict, a fifth-century father of the Church who required his monks to establish a Rule of Life consisting of daily balance between prayer and work (ora et labora). Finding Flow takes Benedict's timeless wisdom, recrafts it with modern language and personal stories, and makes the monk's wisdom accessible to today's readers.

brian j. plachta is a writer, spiritual director, and speaker. A lay ecclesial minister for thirty-five years, he is a frequent teacher at workshops, retreats, conference centers, and colleges.

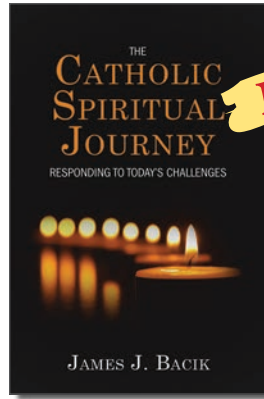

brian's blog, Simple Wisdom for Everyday Living, has over 1000 subscribers, and he's been sending a new blog post to his subscribers every week since April 2016. He lives in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius of Loyola

A Lived Experience

Gerald O'Collins, SJ

The book follows the structure of the Spiritual Exercises, commenting on major themes in what Ignatius calls the First Week, the Second Week, the Third Week, and the Fourth Week, ending with the Contemplation for Attaining Love. It engages the audience by introducing fresh reflections on the Principle and Foundation (to be read in the context of late medieval marriage vows), and by using, at length, several episodes in the Gospel stories (e.g. the nativity of Christ, the call to service of Peter's mother-in-law, the particular approaches of the evangelists to Christ's passion and death, and the place of Ch. 21 in John's theology of love) to show how contemporary biblical interpretation enriches possibilities for prayer.

Resources for prayer are drawn from Christian painting, sculpture, music, literature (e.g., Pascal and Kierkegaard) and poetry. The author explores links between the Exercises and the traditional practice of lectio divina. In doing this, he illustrates the scope of teaching on lectio divina coming from the Second Vatican Council and shows how translators and commentators have missed the Council's use of the technical term lectio divina.

After a PhD at the University of Cambridge, Gerald O'Collins, SJ, for thirty-three years taught fundamental and systematic theology at the Gregorian University (Rome), where he was also dean of the theology faculty (1985–91). He is now adjunct professor at the Australian Catholic University and a research fellow at the University of Divinity (Melbourne). He has published many hundreds of articles in professional and popular journals, and books.

The Catholic Spiritual Journey

Responding to Today's Challenges

James J. Bacik

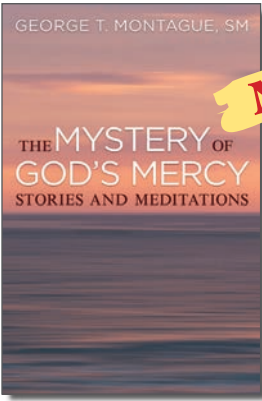

"In this post-pandemic world, reliance upon our Catholic traditions provides both comfort and challenge in daily living. Father Bacik is skilled at presenting the richness of our faith perspective in a manner that is accessible to all. . . . Each chapter distills the essence of Catholic belief, a refreshing return to the heart of our faith." —from the foreword

Through the lens of "spirituality," and more specifically the idea of "spiritual journey," the Nicene Creed, the theological and moral virtues, the seven gifts of the Holy Spirit, the Beatitudes, major liturgical feasts, and holy people, The Catholic Spiritual Journey explores how the Catholic spiritual tradition offers hope in challenging times.

"Fr. Bacik fuses a classical and contemporary pathway toward spiritual enlightenment. This catechetical masterpiece offers a rich meditation for anyone looking for a fresh interpretation of Catholic Christian teachings."

—Rev. Richard S. Vosko, Hon. AIA, author of Art and Architecture for Congregational Worship: A Search for a Common Ground

Fr. James Bacik is a priest of the Diocese of Toledo and is the former pastor of Corpus Christi University Parish in Toledo. He has a doctorate in theology from the University of Oxford and has published numerous articles and more than fifteen books. Fr. Bacik has taught graduate theology courses at the University of Notre Dame, Fordham University, the University of San Francisco, and the Catholic Theological Union in Chicago. He has also lectured widely in the United States and internationally.

The Mystery of God's Mercy

Stories and Meditations

George T. Montague, SM

This book outlines various ways that the living God can be found and brought to life. Beginning with the Bible (the Old and New Testaments), the book explores the ways that the gospel comes alive in the faith experiences of others, in a human person.

Based on his own teaching experiences, the author uses the faith experiences of his students and his own life experiences to illustrate how they experienced the word of the gospel.

This book tells stories of God's mercy in the author's life and in the lives of friends and students who have given permission for them to be shared. Some of the stories are meditations on the stories of mercy in the Bible seen through the eyes of those who told them or those who wrote them.

The final chapter provides suggested questions for personal reflection and discussion.

Fr. George T Montague, SM, is a member of the Society of Mary, the Marianists. He lives with the Brothers of the Beloved Disciple (BBD) to serve as their superior. Author of more than 30 books in the areas of biblical and pastoral theology and spirituality, he received his doctorate in sacred theology at the University of Fribourg, Switzerland.

PaperMary in the Christian Tradition*Owen F. Cummings

Owen Cummings explores the traditions regarding Mary that have developed since New Testament times. In addition to the patristic themes usually covered, he includes other traditions such as Syriac and Celtic. He includes Islam since their tradition comes from Christian sources such as the Protoevangelium of James, and more is written about Mary in the Qu'ran than there is in the New Testament. After surveying church history, especially in Europe and including the Reformation, he examines Vatican II, the relatively recently defined Marian doctrines, and devotion to Mary.

Owen F. Cummings is Regents' Professor of Theology at Mount Angel Seminary in Oregon. He is the author of sixteen books and many articles in theological and pastoral journals. He is also a Roman Catholic permanent deacon of the Diocese of Salt Lake City.

At the Table of Holy Wisdom

Global Hungers and Feminist Biblical Interpretation

Barbara Reid

Wisdom is personified in the Bible as a female figure inviting us to a banquet. Those who yearn most for the message are the hungriest: women and children, especially those of color. Barbara Reid explores how feminist liberationist biblical interpretation is an essential tool to alleviate this hunger, extending the banquet metaphor.

Barbara Reid, OP, is a Dominican Sister of Grand Rapids, Michigan. She is the first woman to hold the position of president of the Catholic Theological Union in Chicago. She is a leading figure in the field of feminist biblical interpretation and past president of the Catholic Biblical Association.

Rethinking Catholic TheologyFrom the Mystery of Existence to the New CreationHarvey D. Egan, SJ

This book presents a comprehensive summary of the major themes of eschatology, also known as the Last Things. It rethinks the theological understanding of death, various views of afterlife, reincarnation, individual judgment, the incorruptible soul, the intermediate state, limbo, purgatory, Christ's Second Coming, the Last Judgment, Hell, heaven, and the New Creation. The book explains the scriptural, theological, and official Church teaching on these topics, but creatively rethinks them in an orthodox way, leaning heavily on the thought of the philosopher-theologians, Karl Rahner and Bernard Lonergan, the historical studies in the Western Christian mystical tradition of Bernard McGinn, and the exegesis of the world-class biblical scholar N. T. Wright. It presents the pros and cons of some aspects of certain topics and gives solid reasons why some opinions should be rejected or accepted.

Harvey D. Egan, SJ, DTheol, is a leading expert on Christian mysticism and the thought of Karl Rahner. He received his doctorate of theology under the direction of Karl Rahner from Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität in Münster. He is professor emeritus of systematic and mystical theology at Boston College, where he taught for thirty-five years.

Catholic Perspectives on Reform

Michael Seewald

The Catholic Church is under great pressure to change. The list of debated topics is long: women's rights, same-sex partnerships, the involvement of the laity, etc. Michael Seewald makes it clear: the Church could be more flexible than it is currently. Discussions about reform move within a narrow dogmatic framework, but this is only one of many possibilities. Here Michael Seewald shows how it is possible for the Catholic Church to undergo fundamental reform while at the same time remaining itself.

Michael Seewald is professor of dogmatics and dogmatic history at Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster.

Ecology, Liturgy, and the Sacraments

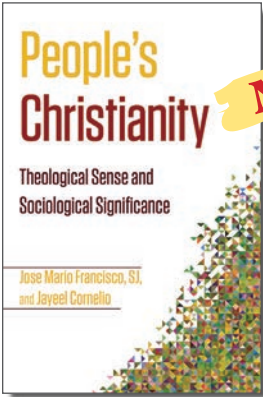

Kevin W. Irwin

This book is based on the principle that the liturgy is the enactment of "the work of our redemption" through the raising up, acknowledging and revering elements of the cosmos, the earth, and our "fellow creatures" in our common home.

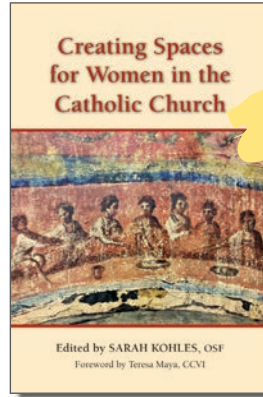

It is inspired by Pope Francis's encyclical Laudato Si (On Care for Our Common Home) because it presents a world view and requires respecting and caring for all creatures who share this planet.

The author argues that concern for the environment is a traditional Catholic premise based on the goodness of creation and that God is creator of "heaven and earth." He also argues that an ecological approach to sacramental theology can help to understand underlying factors and principles in the enactment of the liturgy of the sacraments about how and where God is discovered in the world in general and in the liturgy and sacraments in an intense and focused way through engagement with all who dwell in our common home.

Monsignor Kevin W. Irwin is a priest of the Archdiocese of New York and former dean of the School of Theology and Religious Studies at The Catholic University of America, where he is now a research professor. Msgr. Irwin earned his doctorate in sacramental theology from the Ateneo of San Anselmo in Rome. He is the author of numerous books and articles on liturgy and sacraments.

People's Christianity

Theological Sense and Sociological Significance

Jose Mario Francisco, SJ, and Javeel Cornelio

People's Christianity approaches lived religion through the eyes of faith and the interdisciplinary lenses of theology and the social sciences. "Sense" and "significance" encapsulate the book's two main goals. First, it unpacks how people's Christianity manifests the laity's faith and how it thus becomes a locus theologicus that reveals new reflective horizons that cover a wide range of themes from pastoral to critical.

Second, it points to lived Christianity's significance, properly understood in relation to its social context or realities. Resisting the theological and moral condescension toward popular expressions of the Christian faith, this book argues that they are in fact meaningful if assessed in light of the daily realities that confront local believers.

Foregrounding experiences in the Global South, the book will speak to Christians from different traditions and theological perspectives.

Jose Mario Francisco, SJ, is the president of Ateneo de Manila University's Loyola School of Theology, where he also serves as a professor of philosophical theological and cultural studies. He received his PhD in theology from the Graduate Theological Union.

Javeel Cornelio is associate professor and the director of the development studies program at the Ateneo de Manila University and honorary research associate at the Divinity School of Chung Chi College at the Chinese University of Hong Kong.

Creating Spaces for Women in the Catholic Church

Edited by Sarah Kohles, OSF
Foreword by Teresa Maya, CCVI

Creating Spaces for Women in the Catholic Church presents the struggle of theologically educated lay women with the Catholic Church. The author, a Catholic sister, shares the same struggle but enjoys an incredible network of communal, ministerial, financial, and spiritual support that helps her negotiate the painful experiences in the Church. Lay women lack this support. Yet, lay women valiantly carve out spaces for themselves within the church, though these spaces tend to be small-scale, localized, and temporary. If they move to a new place, they often lose the support they have built for themselves.

The contributors study alongside male seminarians, serve as hospital chaplains when Catholics always want a priest, prepare queer liturgies to create space for all of God's people, and create a progressive, Chicana domestic church while raising children. They push beyond the spaces allotted to them. The author explores potential pathways forward for collaboration between sisters and lay women to create a stronger network support for lay women.

Sarah Kohles, OSF, is a Sister of St. Francis of Dubuque with a PhD in biblical studies from Graduate Theological Union. In addition to being an adjunct professor at Loras College, Wartburg Theological Seminary in Dubuque, Iowa, and St. Mary's University in San Antonio. She has offered online programs for Shalom spirituality Center in Dubuque.

Freedom and Possibility

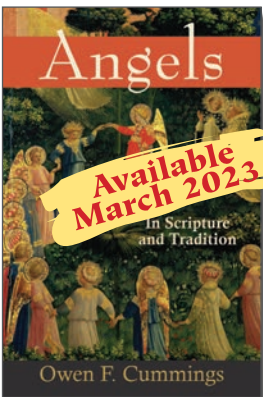

God's Will and the Praxis of the Church (t)

Bernard P. Prusak

God, omnipotent in love, has created freedom and possibility, whereas hierarchical dominance within the church limits the role of baptized women and men.

The book considers the ongoing adventure of God acting through the randomness and chance of the evolutionary process, whereby matter became life and life became self-conscious spirit with freedom. God's creation of freedom has been pivotal in the theology of the younger Joseph Ratzinger, and of Karl Rahner, Edward Schillebeeckx, and others. Making room for human freedom involves thinking about God's patience, defenselessness, and vulnerability, particularly as made clear in the humanity of Jesus. By creating humans with their finite and free will, God has voluntarily renounced power and control. And, as Walter Kasper has emphasized, if the Church is to be a credible advocate for human rights and freedom in the world, it must assess its own record, and plan to integrate freedom into its internal structures.

Dr. Bernard Prusak, professor for historical and systemic theology at Villanova University in Pennsylvania, is also the former chair of theology and religious studies department at Villanova University. He is the author of The Church Unfinished: Ecclesiology through the Centuries, as well as numerous articles. He has lectured extensively on both the historical and theological perspective of the Second Vatican Council and its continued influence and challenges with hope for new possibilities.

Angels

In Scripture and Tradition

Owen F. Cummings

This book presents a solid Catholic teaching about angels through Scripture and tradition. It includes the ideas of modern theologians such as Bernard Cooke and Karl Rahner.

Owen F. Cummings studied Semitic Languages at University College, Dublin, and did graduate work in theology at Trinity College Dublin and the University of Glasgow. He has taught theology at: Newman University Birmingham; St. Mary's Seminary, Oscott, Birmingham; and Westminster College, Salt Lake City. For the last twenty-five years he has taught systematic theology at Mount Angel Seminary, Oregon, as the Distinguished Regents' Professor of Theology. He has been a permanent deacon for 32 years, incardinated in the Diocese of Salt Lake City.

Reforming the Church

A Synodal Way of Proceeding

Serena Noceti

Reforming the Church analyses ministries, participatory structures (e.g., pastoral councils, synods, etc.), pastoral institutions (e.g., parishes, etc.), the role of the laity and especially women and couples in the Church, the formation programs in seminaries and the decision-making and decision-taking models, among other topics where concrete reforms are needed.

The book covers six perspectives/parts: The synodal form of church; scripture and tradition—the consensus ecclesiae; pathways to renewed ministries; coresponsibility versus clericalism; reforming structures; and the future—an ongoing synodal spirituality.

Serena Noceti is an Italian lay theologian, and a full professor at the Religious Sciences Institute in Florence. She also teaches at the Theological Faculty of Central Italy. She is a founding member of the Association of Italian Women Theologians and former vice president of the Italian Theological Association.
