POPE FRANCIS; WITH AN INTRODUCTION AND COMMENTARY BY MSGR. KEVIN IRWIN

Laudate Deum is the apostolic exhortation by Pope Francis on the climate crisis that relates directly to his first encyclical, Laudato Si'. Here, however, the pope's concern is focused directly on the climate crisis that affects all people, but especially those who are poor. POPE FRANCIS, Jorge Mario Bergolio, was born in Buenos Aires on December 17, 1936, and became bishop of Rome and the 266th pope of the Catholic Church on March 13, 2013.

BREAD FOR THE SOUL

Stories That Nourish, Comfort, and Heal

JIM CLARKE

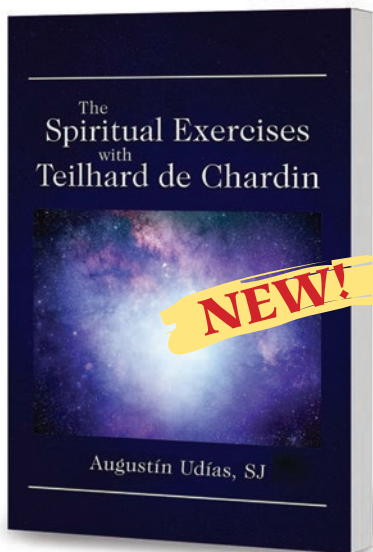

Jim Clarke draws on his forty-two years of experience in pastoral ministry to explore common questions and struggles faced by most of us in daily life: relationships, meaning, work, faith issues, prayer, money, aging, understanding God's ways, bringing faith to life and life to faith, etc. Each chapter begins with a question culled from his studies and professional training, as well as from parishioners and students. As always, Fr. Jim brings the abstract down to earth as he writes in a conversational, easily readable format, using stories, analogies, and jokes to help the reader to engage with the topics.

REV. JIM CLARKE, PHD, has an extensive background in teaching, spiritual direction, counseling, formation work, depth psychology, parish ministry, and retreat leadership. Recently retired from active ministry, he has been coordinator for spiritual and human formation for the permanent diaconate program for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and senior lecturer at Loyola Marymount University and Mount Saint Mary's University in Los Angeles.

STRANGERS IN THE BIBLE

Loved but Not Embraced

RENÉ MICALLEF

In this book, Fr. René Micallef, a Maltese Jesuit, reflects on biblical hospitality and kinship building with strangers. Acts 28:1–10 speaks of the hospitality of the Maltese, but also of their fear and suspicions regarding Paul, the stranger. Such biblical stories of hospitality may become part of a national identity: welcoming tourists and rich investors strengthens that narrative, but welcoming poor, black and non-Christian asylum seekers and immigrants may put that narrative to the test. In recent years, all over the world, mass migration has provoked and unmasked a deep fear of the other. There is no easy way of building trust with the “other,” but we can learn from historical experiences such as that of biblical Israel and of the first Christian communities. It is worth exploring not only the positive and commendable passages and behaviors, but also the fear and hostility present in biblical texts, as well as the struggle to overcome such reactions. The book explores the Bible in all its complexity to help contemporary readers think through modern political issues critically. Only by educating young Christians to honest and critical thinking can we engender deep, reasoned and trusting faithfulness to the Gospel of mercy, Church authority and tradition.

RENÉ MICALLEF, SJ, is associate professor in the Department of Moral Theology, Faculty of Theology at the Pontifical Gregorian University.
