St. Martin of Tours

The Man Who Shared His Coat

Michaela Hanauer; Illustrated by Angela Glöckler

This is a charming book told in simple language and bright illustrations. The story and illustrations are lively and contemporary, making this book approachable and appealing to children.

Martin seems like a regular kid, more than a "saint." The story includes historical information that the story makes sense to children, who may also be interested in the Roman and soldier aspects of the story.

6810-1 PB 40 pp. $19.95 Ages 5 - 8

- He served an empire, then chose to serve God's people

Martin lived a long time ago in the ancient Roman Empire. His father was a soldier and was sent anywhere the emperor needed him. Therefore, Martin and his family moved very often. Nevertheless, he was a cheerful boy and quickly found friends everywhere. Once a friend told him stories about Jesus. Martin was immediately interested. He was thrilled. He wanted to be like Jesus when he grew up!

God's Influencer

A Short Biography of Carlo Acutis

Michael Collins

This remarkable story traces Carlo's early years, his surprising spiritual wisdom, and his enduring influence in the digital age. An inspiring portrait of a modern teenager who found joy in serving others and saw the internet as a tool for sharing God's love.

- A teen, a laptop, and a love for God that changed the world

NEW!

The young teen took his duties as a junior catechist seriously and tried to live simply. Although his family was wealthy, Carlo grew increasingly impatient with their constant gifts. Christmas and birthdays were accompanied by presents but he firmly rejected gifts of things which he did not need. Each year in May, to celebrate Carlo's birthday, the family went to Gardaland Resort near Milan. Carlo always insisted on bringing friends to share the outing.

Antonia was a self-confessed shopaholic and enjoyed buying items for the family, but in particular for her only child. When she bought him a pair of sports shoes, she tried to buy two, in different colors. Her son became irritated and insisted on just buying one pair. One day he accompanied his mother to a shoe shop to buy a pair of sneakers. His mother asked the shopkeeper for two pairs, but Carlo objected immediately, asking his mother instead to donate the money to a poor person.

Un cuento bilingüe sobre María, una niña que vivía en una pobre granja familiar en un pueblo de México. Era una tradición en el pueblo realizar eventos especiales en la época de Navidad para celebrar el nacimiento del Niño Jesús. Todos participaban alegremente en la decoración de la iglesia y de la plaza del pueblo, situada justo en frente. Incluso los niños ayudaban, haciendo regalos para obsequiarle al Niño Jesús en Nochebuena.

Miracle of the Poinsettia: (Milagro de la Flor de Nochebuena)

A Retelling by Brian Cavanaugh, TOR

The Mexican legend of the poinsettia: A small girl who has no gift to give the Christ Child at the Christmas Eve procession, gathers up weeds, and finds them to be miraculously topped with glorious red flowers.

Some time ago, I heard a lovely Christmas story about María, a young girl who lived on a poor family farm in a small village in Mexico. It was a custom in the village to glorify the Christmas season with special events to celebrate the birth of the Christ Child, Jesus. Everyone took part in the preparations by festively decorating the village church and the plaza in front of it. Even the children helped by making gifts to give the Baby Jesus on Christmas Eve.

Rosa Mediani

With expressive illustrations, this Bible recounts the most well-known stories, plus those that are lesser known, all of which show the unwavering love of God for his people.

A BURNING BUSH

One day, Moses was grazing his father-in-law's flock on Mount Horeb, when he saw a bush that was on fire, but that burned without being consumed. Amazed, he approached for a closer look and heard a voice saying, "I am the God of your fathers. I saw the sufferings of my people and I have come down to free them. Go to Pharaoh and command him to allow the Israelites to leave Egypt." "Who am I to order Pharaoh to do such a thing?" Moses asked in alarm.

"Do not be afraid, I will be with you. I will strike Egypt with my power, and Pharaoh will have to let you leave," said the Lord.

"But what will I tell the Israelites when they ask me who sent me?"

"You will answer that I AM has sent you to bring them back to the land he had promised their fathers."

Moses obeyed, returned to Egypt, and the Lord sent his brother Aaron to accompany him in his mission. Moses explained to the Israelites that the Lord had heard their prayer and was about to free them from slavery.

"Who brings me to green pastures, and leads me beside the still waters?"

And who really likes me?

In the Thick of the Storm

The wind is gusting. It's whipping the sails about.

The waves are swelling. They're flooding into the boat, already overflowing it.

The fishermen are panicked; they're going to perish for sure.

During the storm Jesus sleeps like a baby on his cushion. How can he do this? Doesn't he hear? Doesn't he see? Doesn't he care about his friends?

Sure he does! But Jesus is resting in the hand of God. He is not afraid. He draws all is strength from God. With one single word he will quiet the sea and the wind: "Silence."

"What is this then, that even the wind and the sea obey him?"
Mark 4:41

Daniel, Surrounded by Lions

An entire night with lions... and not scratch!

The wild animals have spared Daniel. This is amazing. He was thrown in with them so that he would be killed.

He was thrown there because he loved God more than anything else. He prayed to God three times a day and this displeased some... and so the powerful men in the kingdom decided that he should die. But at daybreak, there he was, alive... with the lions sitting at his feet!

"He is the living God, enduring forever... He delivers and rescues, he works signs and wonders in heaven and on earth."
